The corner of Fulton and McDaniel Street in Atlanta’s Mechanicsville neighborhood on has changed due to HOPE IV funding and a sophisticated development team. On three of the corners a passerby will notice new 4-story urban infill housing (Columbia Mechanicsville). The fourth corner is Senior Residences at Mechanicsville home to resident’s age 62 and over. JHP designed all four of the structures and several other projects in the immediate neighborhood. Mechanicsville Seniors is a mixed-income community (80%aff/20%market) consisting of 122 one-bedroom/1-bath units sized at 770SF. The four-story facility is amenity rich including: Multipurpose Community Room, Business Center, Fitness Center, Dining/Dance Room, Hospitality Suite, Library, Movie Theater, and Great Room with fireplace.
